BROOKS ANNOUNCES WINNER OF STORMWATER COALITION STUDENT LOGO DESIGN CONTEST

Monroe County Executive Maggie Brooks today announced that the Stormwater Coalition of Monroe County has selected Greg Cunneyworth, a senior at Pittsford Sutherland High School, as the winner of its student logo design contest. The Stormwater Coalition will use the winning logo on its web page, public education pieces, and training materials.

"The logo design contest was a great way to get students involved in helping us promote the importance of protecting our environment," said Brooks. "I congratulate Greg Cunneyworth on designing an outstanding logo and helping communicate the message that we all have a role to play in conserving our water resources and reducing stormwater pollution."

The logo design contest was open to all Monroe County students in grades 7 through 12. The Stormwater Coalition was impressed with Greg's creativity and the professional look of his design.

The Stormwater Coalition is awarding a $200 savings bond to Greg in recognition of his efforts. The Coalition is also awarding honorable mention prizes of $100 savings bonds to Amelia Folkins and Christine Bricault, both juniors at Penfield High School.

The Stormwater Coalition of Monroe County is an alliance of 25 towns and villages and the County of Monroe. The Coalition works to protect local water resources such as Lake Ontario, Irondequoit Bay and the Genesee River by reducing stormwater pollution. The Stormwater Coalition works with other organizations in the community to educate and train citizens, real estate developers, and municipal employees on actions they can take to reduce stormwater pollution.

The Stormwater Coalition advises residents to be careful to never dispose of anything down the storm drain. Residents can properly dispose of household hazardous waste at Monroe County's Household Hazardous Waste Facility, clean up after pets, and maintain cars to prevent leaks so pollutants do not enter the stormwater system.
